Beef Price Rollback Plan Runs into Snag

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, June 19—(AP)—The Senate banking committee voted today for a ban on further price rollbacks, including beef—below average price levels between Jan. 24 and Feb. 24, 1951.

WASHINGTON, June 19—(AP)—The House banking committee has put a hand on Price Director Michael V. DiSalle's meat price cleaver, tentatively voting to prohibit the two additional beef price cuts DiSalle plans.

The committee acted last night after strong administration support and a renewed flow of cattle to the slaughter pens had apparently made the ex-mayor of Toledo victor in his toughest price fight. Cattle raisers and meat packers have fought the order.

DiSalle has declared the success of the whole effort to control prices and wages may hinge on his efforts to chop live beef prices 10 percent. A first-stage 10 percent cut is in effect. DiSalle scheduled further reductions, each 4 1-2 percent, on Aug. 1 and Oct. 1. The Senate banking committee yesterday defeated, seven to five, a proposal similar to the one the House group approved, to bar further beef price roll backs.

Control Extension Loans

Meanwhile, as both House and Senate banking committee were urged by the administration to get out a stiff new controls law, Taft (R-Ohio) called for a five-month extension of present economic controls. He also proposed a delay until Dec. 1 of any decision on enacting new taxes.

His move today was seen in some quarters as a Republican reply to a tacit bid by mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson yesterday for a compromise to get action by the lawmakers before the present law expires June 30.

With the proponents of an "as-is" status apparently in the majority, the Senate banking committee may vote today on a proposal by Senator Capehart (R-Ind.) to continue the present controls act, as Taft proposed, till Dec. 1. Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.) suggested an extension to March 31, instead.

The House banking committee's 12-11 vote against further cuts in the price of beef on the hoof was on an amendment to the new defense production act the committee is considering. This is the statute giving the government most of its powers to regulate prices, wages, production and credit. President Truman has asked a two-year extension and more

At the present time I do not know of a single rail fence in Fayette County, although there are probably a few short stretches of fence built from rails somewhere in the county.

When the first pioneers came to Fayette County, timber was so abundant that they felled saplings and cut long poles from which they built what little fencing was required to confine their livestock.

Later on they split logs into rails, usually 10 to 12 feet in length, and built more substantial and more enduring fences, as the pole fences soon decayed.

White oak, burr oak, walnut, ash, hickory and red oak were the chief timbers used for splitting rails.

An ax, a heavy wooden maul, one or more iron wedges, and some wooden wedges were used to split the rails, and considerable skill was necessary.

The old "worm" rail fences were the customary type, and the stake-and-rider type, which frequently was six feet or more in height, would turn all ordinary animals.

However, I have known of horses which lifted the top rails off and then jumped the four foot fence after the "riders" were removed.

The old "Russell" fence, to a large extent, supplanted the stake-and-rider fence. This was built by placing posts in the ground so that another post could be wired to it, and the ends of the rails would overlap a few inches. The fence was supported by wires, with cross wiring between the rails when necessary.

However, as timber grew less, and wire fencing made its first appearance more than 50 years ago, the rail fences started vanishing and disappeared as quickly as the horse and buggy when the automobile arrived.

Now practically all fences are wire, with many of them built with concrete instead of wooden posts.

Men Are Needed To Serve Here In Civil Defense

Meeting Is Called For Wednesday Night For Observer Corps

The Ground Observer Corps of the Civilian Defense organization in Fayette County is greatly in need of more men.

In this set-up every county in Ohio and elsewhere over the country, is supposed to be organized with a group which, upon call, is to observe airplane activities in its territory. Reports are made to a "filter" center.

At periodic intervals the headquarters for the Eastern Air Defense Force announces an "exercise" when certain planes are sent over given territory. This becomes a training maneuver for the various local organizations of the Ground Observer Corps as a part of the program of preparation in identification and observation for the future in the event of enemy planes in this country.

24 More Men Needed

At present there are 16 men in the Fayette County Ground Observer Corps. At least 40 are needed.

Cattle Return To Stockyards

CHICAGO, June 19—(AP)—Another fairly heavy run of cattle poured into the nation's major livestock markets today and the current shortage of beef in some cities appeared definitely on the way out. Receipts at the 12 principal markets totaled 44,600 compared with 37,300 a week ago and 50,700 a year ago. The increase in cattle receipts over the preceding week started June 12 and the upward trend has continued unabated.

Two weeks ago, the day after cattle prices were rolled back 10 percent throughout the entire industry, receipts were only 26,500. Curtailed shipments throughout that week caused widespread beef shortages.

Crisis Is Near Over Iran Oil

TEHRAN, Iran, June 19—(AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadeq appealed to U. S. Ambassador Henry F. Grady today to try to persuade the British to cooperate in Iran's nationalization of oil.

The premier called Grady a few hours before what may be the peak of the oil crisis in this sensitive spot at Russia's side door.

London reports said the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company will come forward tonight with an offer of 10,000,000 pounds ($28,000,000) in answer to Iran's cash demands. This is short of Iran's demands for 75 percent of the oil profits since March, plus a deposit of the remaining 25 percent to meet the company's possible compensation claims. AIOC negotiators meet with government officials at 8 P. M. the deadline Iran set for satisfaction of her demands.

But at Abadan, Mossadeq's right hand man, Hossein Maki declared Britain must meet Iran's full demands or "we will shut off the valves" to AIOC's customers and "take over" AIOC tomorrow.

Sugar Price Going Up
NEW YORK, June 19—(AP)—Cane sugar refiners started today to raise prices for refined sugar one quarter cent a pound. Industry representatives said the increase, which follows a similar boost effected May 14, reflects the continued rise in the cost of raw sugar.

Gas Rates Increased
ZANESVILLE, June 19—(AP)—City council yesterday granted the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. a new five-year franchise with rate increases to home consumers that averaged about 4.5 percent. The issue has been under discussion about four months.

Bird's Nest Is Blamed For Circleville Crash
CIRCLEVILLE, June 19—(AP)—Bird's nest is blamed for the plane crash that killed Thomas G. Griffith, 28, of Canal Winchester.

A Civil Aeronautics administration inspector said a bird started a nest of twigs, grass and twine in the air intake tube that leads to the carburetor. This apparently choked off the engine's air supply after the craft got into the air. The crash occurred Sunday in a Circleville cemetery.

More Troops for Korea
TOKYO, June 19—(AP)—The first troops from South America to reach Korea—a battalion from Colombia—arrived Saturday, the army announced today.

WASHINGTON, June 19—(AP)—Comptroller General Lindsay C. Warren today told senators there has been "an undoubted weakening of moral standards" in government and out of it. So far as the government is concerned, he said Congress itself must shoulder part of the blame.

Warren, Uncle Sam's boss accountant, is an agent of Congress rather than of the president.

The comptroller general gave his views as a leadoff witness in hearings on government moral standards before a Senate labor subcommittee. He endorsed a proposal to set up a commission of distinguished citizens to draft methods of sharing up the moral level of the government, including the ethics of Congress.

Warren said the vast majority of government employees -- especially career government workers -- are honest, capable and conscientious.

Foundation Laid for Universal Military Service

New Law Extends Draft

WASHINGTON, June 19—(AP)—President Truman today signed the new draft law.

The measure lowers the draft age, extends the Selective Service system four years and lays the foundation for Universal Military Training.

Mr. Truman signed the bill in a White House ceremony at 11:15 A. M. (EST).

The new law keeps the draft in operation until July 1, 1955, and permits the induction of 18½ year-olds for military service if local draft boards exhaust their supply of older eligible men. It makes no change in the present maximum draft age of 25.

The present law, which would have expired on July 9, prohibited the induction of anyone under 19.

The period of service under the new law is 24 months instead of the 21 under the expiring law.

Although the minimum induction age under the new law is 18½ years, men still must register when they become 18.

The new law makes draft-age aliens liable to service if they desire permanent residence; reduces mental and physical standards for acceptance for service; puts a new top of 5,000,000 men on the overall size of the armed forces, and permits the induction of eligible men whose sole dependents are their wives.

It provides for appointment of a five-man commission to recommend to Congress a system of universal military training for 18-year-olds.

The commission, which is to include three civilians, has four months in which to complete its study and report.

The training system would not become effective until Congress approved it and established a code of conduct and a schedule of disability and death benefits for trainees.

Truman Policy In Korea Backed

Adm. Badger's Views Given at Inquiry

WASHINGTON, June 19—(AP)—Vice Adm. Oscar C. Badger said today he thinks bombing of Red China's supply lines should be confined to Korea "for the time being."

Testifying at the Senate's MacArthur inquiry, Badger said he does not think it would be wise now to adopt the step urged by Gen. Douglas MacArthur and bomb bases and supply routes in Chinese Manchuria.

Badger said the United Nations should "continue to effect heavy losses in Korea of Chinese military manpower and of their essential equipment in the hope that the Peiping government may be forced to change its attitude of demand to one of acceptable negotiation."

In effect, this was an endorsement of the administration's "limited war" strategy for Korea, at least so far as bombing is concerned.

Badger said he is opposed to (Please turn to Page Two)

Accident Variety Has Hospital Busy

ATLANTA, June 19—(AP)—People had a hard time here yesterday. Alonzo Caldwell, 23, riding atop a truck load of crates, was swept from his perch by a low underpass.

Hospitals treated one person for a monkey bite, another for a dog bite, and a third for a spider bite.

One child fell from a tree, another from a bicycle and a third miscalculated a dive into a swimming pool.

But it remained for Charlotte Mitchell, 13, to send herself to a hospital by hitting herself on the head.

Charlotte hopped herself with a tennis racket as she made a determined swing at a ball.

None was hurt seriously.

New Jail Break Angle Simple, but Won't Work

MONTEREY, Va., June 19—(AP)—Frank Ottey has a record of jail breaking. This time he tried a new angle—a very simple one.

He called from the jail window to a five-year-old boy, tossed the lad a couple of coins and told him to buy a hacksaw blade at a nearby store. This the boy did, returning it to Ottey.

The only trouble was the youngster told his father, who told the jailor, who retrieved the hacksaw.

American Fliers Beat Commies in Air Battle Again

BY OLEN CLEMENTS
TOKYO, June 19—(AP)—For the third straight day American pilots today beat Red airmen in a big jet battle over northwestern Korea.

U. S. Sabre Jets damaged four Russian-type MIG-15's Tuesday as Allied infantrymen knocked North Koreans off key ridges on the eastern battlefield. On the sea fronts, United Nations warships silenced a challenge by accurate Communist shore batteries.

Twenty-seven Sabre Jets battled 30 Red jets Tuesday in the most evenly matched of the current air fights. They ran their three-day score to six Red jets shot down, 12 damaged.

The battle spread over a wide area around Sonchon, 35 miles from the Manchurian border. It was the deepest recent penetration of Korea by Red jets in force.

The Fifth Air Force did not say, as it usually does, that all Sabre Jets returned safely from Tuesday's air battle.

WASHINGTON, June 19—(AP)—Dr. Stephen Brunauer, suspended chief research chemist in the navy's weapons development section, has resigned in the face of a senator's charge that he was "one of the figures in the atomic spy ring."

After the navy announced his resignation yesterday, Brunauer said, "past mistakes" of 25 years ago cost him his job although "I have been a strong anti-Communist for 18 years." He said he resigned to avoid being "a source of embarrassment" to the navy.

The 48-year-old Hungarian born scientist declared himself "intensely loyal to the United States." He said he "never committed or contemplated an act of disloyalty to my country or its armed services."

Price Fixing Ban On Steel Effected

WASHINGTON, June 19—(AP)—A government order banning price fixing agreements on thousands of steel products has been agreed to by the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) and 90 producers.

In announcing the order last night, FTC said the producers covered represent about 85 percent of the steel industry. It dropped similar complaints of practices "oppressive to the public interest" against nine other steel producers. In agreeing to a settlement, the FTC in effect toned down its charges.

Blue Rock Quarries Are Closed by Strike

Pickets closed down operations at the Blue Rock Quarries on the Greenfield Road early Tuesday and threw some 30 employees out of work.

They ringed the entrance to the quarries, permitting only eight or ten supervisory employees to enter the quarry area.

Highway maintenance inspectors, checking "hot mix" used in covering state highways, were pulled off their jobs at the quarry by Frank Turner, who is employed by the State Highway Department.

Turner took the highway inspectors off the job when he was challenged at the quarry entrance. He asked one of the pickets: "You don't want me to go down there, do you?"

"I'd rather you wouldn't," one of the men in charge of the pickets responded.

"Okay, I'll send my men home," Turner replied.

Pickets appeared at the quarry entrance at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning, their customary time for starting work. They said they

A "medium" number of head of cattle were appearing at Producers Livestock Yards today for the regular Tuesday sale, it was reported Tuesday morning by Jerry Nessell, manager.

Nessell said there were 180 cattle sold last Tuesday, but he said he didn't think sales would go that high today. Nessell said the quality was about the same. Consumers are watching livestock sales to determine what effect the government-ordered rollback of beef prices is having.

Korea Policy Backed

South China Revolt

Badger also expressed belief that Communist reverses in Korea are strengthening the chance that South China may revolt against its Red masters.

Badger is naval commander for the Eastern (Atlantic) Sea frontier but had long experience in the Pacific. He was the tenth witness at the inquiry into MacArthur's dismissal and the policy involved in it.

He went before the inquiry panel -- made up of the Senate armed services and foreign relations committees -- with a long prepared statement making a broad analysis of the problems presented by the Communist march in Asia.

At one point, this statement said the U. S. should "conduct all operations in connection with the war in Korea consistent with the fact that the availability of arms, ammunition and equipment is more critical to the Chinese effort than is the availability of manpower."

It said this effort should be supported "by discontinuing the recognized use of sanctuaries by armed enemies of the United Nations, and by the establishment of effective sanctions and, if necessary, blockades."

When Gen. George Washington issued his first call for army recruits, enlistments were for one year.

Allied Advance

Fierce fighting broke out when the advance carried the Allies to the crest of a ridge line looking down on a Red supply area. A saw battle broke out and was the only noteworthy action along the front. It was still underway Tuesday night.

The dominating Red artillery and mortar fire burst at tree top level along the wooded hills. U. N. 155 and 105 MM. field pieces roared back. And 4.5 inch rockets streaked into Red positions.

The ridges, reached in a pincer movement earlier in the day, form the southern rim of a punch bowl valley loaded with Red supplies.

The drive carried Allies within artillery range of a mountain area alive with Red activity. A corps spokesman said the Communists may be building up there for a new offensive.

Warships in Battle

Eighty miles to the northwest Communist shore batteries fought an hour and a half artillery duel with besieging United Nations warships.

The shore-to-sea battle erupted Monday afternoon at Wonsan, east coast port besieged more than four months. Accurate Red fire burst close to UN warships and shrapnel splattered on the decks.

Marine Corsair fighter planes and naval gunfire silenced the shore batteries.

"The Red guns scored many near misses," the navy said, "but only slight shrapnel punctures were inflicted on UN ships."

American planes swept freely through a cloudless sky and hammered Reds across North Korea. Four UN planes were down Monday.

UN patrols fanned out along the front. They met little opposition Monday except in the central sector around Kumhwa, eastern anchor of the Iron Triangle. Tank traps and mine fields were their greatest problem.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, June 19—(P)—General MacArthur is now up to his neck in politics, although perhaps not on his own behalf.

He jumped in Saturday at Fort Worth when he made a full-scale attack on the Truman administration for the way it operates at home.

He had returned to this country, after an absence of 12 years, as a critic of the Truman administration's foreign policy.

But now he has launched out as a critic of the administration's handling of domestic affairs, too.

MacArthur made a whirlwind speaking trip through six Texas cities last week, defending and urging in five of them his views on how to win in Korea.

But in Fort Worth he never once spoke of Korea or foreign problems. He spoke there only of events at home.

At Fort Worth MacArthur, who has been mentioned as a possible Republican candidate for president, followed the favorite line taken by many Republican critics of the administration.

He struck at what he called the "internal subversion and corruption and detailed regimentation over our daily life . . . The drift away from our competitive system of free enterprise . . . The drift toward Socialism . . . The tax burden . . ."

Senator Kerr, Oklahoma Democrat, reacted with this statement on MacArthur: "he's running for president as hard as he knows how. The mad-kado rides again."

MacArthur himself, almost at the moment he put foot on American soil in San Francisco last April when returning to talk to Congress, said: "I have no political aspirations whatsoever."

And to a reporter who asked him last week in Texas if he would seek the presidency, MacArthur said "no."

But there is a certain amount of elasticity in both statements for in neither of them did MacArthur say he wouldn't accept the Republican presidential nomination if it's offered to him.

But the Truman administration, which it stripped him of all his commands, inflicted upon him one of the greatest humiliations ever dealt a general in military history.

And now that MacArthur has attacked the administration in both the foreign and domestic fields, it is clear his feeling against the administration is intense in all directions.

So even if he is never rewarded with the Republican nomination, it undoubtedly will be a satisfaction to him if he can help bring about the administration's defeat in the 1952 elections.

Until now the Democrats have handled MacArthur pretty gingerly for several reasons.

He had wide sympathy in his dismissal, immense prestige as a military expert, and wide experience in Asia. His quarrel with the administration was in the military and foreign fields.

His views on both were entitled to respectful hearing, even though his criticism of the administration on both counts may have hurt it politically among those he persuaded to his way of thinking.

But his Fort Worth attack if repeated -- there's no reason to believe it won't be -- should certainly be of political help to the Republicans in their fight on the administration. And in domestic affairs MacArthur can't claim to be a special authority.

So that puts him neck-deep in the American political brawl where the Democrats may feel a lot freer to start musing his hair.

Body Found in Lake; Suicide Theory Held

CANTON, June 19 —(P)—The body of Dr. James C. McConkey, 73, Canton's oldest practicing dentist, was found yesterday in a stream which flows through the Brookside County Club golf course. His body was submerged and his clothes were piled on the bank. Sheriff's deputies quoted relatives as saying he had been depressed lately.

The earliest known organized system of shorthand was practiced by the Romans and dated back to 63 B. C.

Jeffersonville Girl In Sailing Regatta

A Jeffersonville girl, who was never much closer to water than little old Paint Creek that runs across the back yard of her home, today is in the thick of the National Intercollegiate Dinghy Sailing Regatta near Boston on the broad Atlantic.

Miss Melba Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Max Thomas, joined the Sailing Club at Ohio State University a little over a year ago. She had fun and a flair for boating and swimming -- and what's more she learned fast and got pretty good at both.

When the time for the regatta came, Miss Thomas was one of the four co-eds chosen for the OSU squad to go to the big event.

Each dinghy is manned by the skipper and one-girl crew. Each school enters four boats and crews.

The regatta, with Massachusetts Institute of Technology as the host this year, each year brings together the champions from five districts. Ohio State is the mid-west champion.

The Ohio State dinghy crews, made up mostly of landlubbers, did their sailing on the Scioto River above the O'Shaunessy Dam, north of Columbus and not too far from the OSU campus.

The Sailing Club made the Leatherlips Yacht Club its headquarters there.

The regatta started Tuesday and continues through Friday. In the competition, will be crews from schools on both the west and east coasts.

Miss Thomas is a junior in the Ohio State University college of commerce and is majoring in retail merchandising.

A dinghy, the dictionary says, is a small row boat. But those used in the college sport and regatta are specially built and equipped for sailing.

Farmer Is To Get OPS Refund

An Ohio farmer and a farm implement dealer in Chillicothe will receive $240 in refunds next week as a result of an investigation by the Columbus district Office of Price Stabilization.

The farmer, Walter Parker, Jr. purchased 50 boxes of baling wire from another farmer in Circleville. The price charged Parker was $12 per box. The correct price for the wire is $9.80. The $12 rate was also charged the Drummond Implement Co. for 25 boxes of the wire.

When the violation was pointed out to the offender by the OPS, he agreed to a refund of the overcharge.

Director OPS Director Edward F. Wagner said, "The offender in this case was not a dealer in wire and therefore was a 'casual' seller of the product. It is probable that the seller was not aware of the ceiling price which existed. However, we plan enforcement of all violations of ceiling prices at all levels."

Sales Tax Shows Increase Here

Discount Now Two Percent

After a slump in sale of pre-paid sales tax receipts for a couple of weeks, sales were again in excess of normal for the week ending June 2. They reached $7,849.76, compared with $6,368.27 for the same week in 1950.

However, three other counties in this immediate area showed a pronounced drop in sales compared with the same week a year ago.

Many local heavy users of stamps made heavy purchases prior to May 24, when they got the benefit of three percent discount.

Effective May 24 a two percent discount has been allowed instead of three.

As result of the heavy buying of stamps to obtain the three percent discount, sales slumped for two weeks.

Now they are back to normal once more.

Since July 1, 1950, total sales in Fayette County have been $335,090, compared with $290,266 for the same period the previous year.

Row over Drinking Blamed in Killing

PORTSMOUTH, June 19 —(P)— Sheriff Burl Justice said a timber worker shot and killed his wife early today after they had quarreled about his drinking.

The victim was Mrs. Hazel Scaff, 26-year-old mother of two little girls who expected to become a mother again in a few weeks. She was in bed with one child when she was killed.

The sheriff is holding the husband, Richard Scaff, 27, and said he would file a murder charge later today in municipal court.

The shooting was at the Scaff home near Rarden, 25 miles northwest of Portsmouth.

Frankfort Native Is Highly Honored

Very Reverend Msgr. Charles A. Towell, M. A., native of Frankfort and brother of David Towell of Chillicothe, has been elected president of the Catholic Hospital Association of the United States and Canada.

Msgr. Towell, director of hospitals for the diocese of Covington and pastor of St. Boniface Church, Ludlow, Ky., was honored with the position at the 36th annual convention of the association held in Philadelphia.

He is the first priest in history of the Covington diocese who has been chosen president of the international Catholic organization.

The association embraces 1,461 institutions with headquarters in St. Louis.

His term of office does not begin until June 3, 1952, so he will have time to fully acquaint himself with the duties of the position to which he has been named.

Embarrassing Questions for Some Leaders

In an effort to take the heat off the Truman administration's foreign policy in the Far East, some of the administration officials and congressional supporters now are urging an investigation of the so-called China Lobby.

This is a move apparently to find more fault with the Chinese Nationalist and relieve the pressure about the government's "soft" policy toward the Chinese Communists, who some of the administration forces have tried to help in the past.

If this new investigation is to be made why not an investigation of all foreign lobbies?

According to information coming from reliable sources the attorney general's office is reported to have declared the list of registered foreign agents a secret. Could it be that such a list, if made public, would prove that the foreign nation which spent the most money for lobbying before Congress and with the administration was Great Britain?

Could it also be true that certain administration Democrats of high rank, and relatives of high government officials, are on foreign payrolls?

One nationally known columnist and broadcaster, asks the question why this list was suddenly made secret and what prominent Democrats did the Red Lobby pay from the date of the San Francisco conference on up to a recent date?

There is a lot of explaining to do by some government officials, some of whom are still in the U. S. State Department.

Here are some other questions being asked:

What is the Administration's Far East policy?

Will the administration achieve an honorable peace in Korea without military or political appeasement?

Will the United States use the veto to prevent the seating of Red China in the United Nations?

How does the United States intend to prevent the sacrifice of Formosa to Red China?

Were General MacArthur's March peace terms to Red Chinese field commanders

"harder" than those then being discussed by the United States with 13 other nations?

What is the State Department's actual attitude toward Communism?

The people have a right to know.

Strain of Speed

Capt. James Jabara, jet ace, tells of the added tenseness of flying jet planes in combat over the propeller type. Speed is responsible. Reactions must be much swifter. Jabara was in only one inconclusive combat lasting 10 minutes. Usually a decisive action lasts two or three seconds.

This imposes intense strain, mental and physical, on a pilot. In modern flight the speed of sound has been exceeded. In combat over Korea it is approached. This makes it difficult for pilot or crew member to escape from a crippled plane. The strain of flying a jet and the queasy feeling in the stomach may last for two or three days.

The U. S. is recruiting thousands of trainees for jet aviation. They must be tutored until they are razor sharp. Training is more intense and longer drawn out than for other types of planes.

Speed is constantly challenging man's responses. The jets now making 600 to 700 miles an hour will be succeeded by new types capable of 1,000 miles, 1,500 or even more as rockets become manageable.

In the early days of railroads the argument was advanced they would never be feasible because the human system couldn't stand speeds in excess of 20 miles per hour. They were devoid of vision, but the strain of speed is becoming terrific.

Countries which want to help Uncle Sam fight Communism have one thing in common. They want a substantial payment.

Britain is reported to have told Eisenhower it will supply no more troops for Europe. One guess as to the identity of the country Britain thinks should supply troops.

Stomping on Ole Debbil Rum!

NEW YORK, June 15 —(AP)—Oh, that ole debbil rum. Yes, that ole debbil rum.

Some people cry about it while they are alive. Some people buy it while they are alive.

Some have been known to drink it absent mindedly. Some use it as a hair tonic. A fair-minded few employ it for both purposes.

Liquor has done a lot of things to people through the ages. But very few people have returned the favor. Who ever offered to do anything for liquor?

Oh, of course, I don't mean anything so obvious as naming your daughters after it—such as Champagne Smith or Ambrosia Jones. Naturally any thoughtful family does that. Even the Bourbons, why are they are.

But did you ever hear of anybody almost leaving their money to liquor?

Well, a lady named Miss Nancy Alma Livingston left rainy Los Angeles last December for the sunshine sanctuary of heaven. She was a stubborn 71.

Besides the wet climate she left behind some $1,134 to 19 relatives. That is darn near $60 apiece, if it were split evenly, which is something the average relative ordinarily mightn't forgive.

Apparently foreseeing some difficulty about cutting her small pie into so many slices, Miss Livingston put in her will a stipulation if any portion were refused it should go to "some saloon-keepers' society fund for the promotion of liquor drinking."

I have discussed this situation with several of my friends' favorite bartenders. They all agree the lady's will is unreal.

"Any relative who can get $60 out of $1,134 today isn't likely going to contest the will," said one custodian of the mahogany.

The general consensus of the bar hoppers was that the very idea was an insult to their trade. "If the promotion of liquor drinking depended on the rejection of inheritances," said one, "I would become a traveling salesman."

"Well, it is a long bar," said a customer. "What are you but a traveling salesman?"

This accurate but ill-time remark cost the client a drink on the house. The bartender had been about to pop.

Leahy's Testimony Interesting

One of the items omitted from the Russell committee investigation was the Honolulu conference of 1944. President Roosevelt went to the Pacific to straighten out any differences between General MacArthur and Admiral Nimitz on how to fight Japan. Admiral William D. Leahy, in his book, "I Was There," says:

"These two meetings were much more peaceful than I had expected after what I had been hearing in Washington. Here in Honolulu we were working with facts, not with the emotional reactions of politicians. MacArthur had shown exceptional ability early in his army career and his rise had been rapid. It was no secret that in the Pentagon building in Washington there were men who disliked him, to state the matter mildly. . . . I personally was convinced that MacArthur and Nimitz were, together, the two best qualified officers in our service for this tremendous task. Nimitz promised that he would give the army commander the needed transportation and naval support. Both told the president they had what they needed, that they were not asking for anything, and that they would work together in full agreement toward the common end of defeating Japan."

Further, Admiral Leahy wrote: "We had a special meeting of the joint chiefs in which I gave them a detailed report of the Honolulu conference. They may have been somewhat surprised to learn that Nimitz and MacArthur said they had no disagreements at the moment and that they could work out their joint plans in harmony. . . ."

The astonishment of the joint chiefs of staff must have been great indeed, for already there were numerous rumors and reports of how difficult MacArthur was and how he and the navy were having a tough time. Actually, this was not so, and the rumors undoubtedly were designed to lessen General MacArthur's influence and the weight of his views.

The basic question was whether the Philippines were to be bypassed and Japan attacked directly. Leahy says:

"MacArthur was convinced that an occupation of the Philippines was essential before any major attack in force should be made on Japanese-held territory north of Luzon. The retaking of the Philippines seemed to be a matter of great interest to him. He said that he had sufficient ground aid air forces for the operation and that his only additional needs were landing craft and naval support."

So General MacArthur and Admiral Nimitz, sitting with President Roosevelt in Honolulu, stipulated, according to Admiral Leahy: "MacArthur and Nimitz were now in agreement that the Philippines should be recovered with ground and air power than available in the western Pacific and that Japan could be forced to accept our terms of surrender by the use of sea and air power without an invasion of the Japanese homeland."

It is important to note that Russia was at this time in no way associated with the Far Eastern war. Russia was a neutral and strictly so. It was MacArthur's theory that if he could cut Japan off from her conquered territory, seize the shipping and air lanes, he would reduce the availability of rice and raw materials and that he would defeat Japan without attacking her directly and thus save a great many American lives. This was accomplished.

This Honolulu conference is important in any understanding of the long series of events which Congress is now investigating. Yet, it has thus far not even been considered. For instance, Dean Acheson has defended Yalta on the grounds that Russia was not even in the Far Eastern war at the time that the strategy of the Pacific war was designed at Honolulu. At no point in Admiral Leahy's recital of what occurred at Honolulu was Russia given any consideration.

But they talked about England. This is what Leahy says in his book:

"Nimitz and MacArthur discussed with the president the role that the British, especially the royal navy, would play in the final operations against Japan. . . . There were reports that some elements in Churchill's government were in favor of obtaining a controlling interest in the Dutch East Indies once they had been recaptured. It was MacArthur's contention that the British should not be allowed to assume control of any territory that we recaptured from the enemy. I suspected that the Australians, in this matter, were in complete agreement with MacArthur."

All this might be included in the record. Maybe it explains why the British and the pro-British elements in this country are so antagonistic to MacArthur. (Copyright, 1951, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Diet and Health Mumps Are Serious For Adult Patients

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Mumps holds very little danger for children. Rarely are there any complications or permanent damage in the child. The story is different, however, when mumps attacks the adult. Here complications are frequent and often severe.

Among the most common of these complications is one which affects male patients only. This is orchitis, an inflammation of the sex glands which causes them to become swollen and very tender.

After the orchitis disappears, there may be atrophy or wasting of the sex gland tissues, making the individual sterile.

Frequent Complication

Another frequent complication of mumps in the adult is encephalitis, in which the person becomes sleepy, has abnormal muscle movements, and may develop paralysis of parts of his body. This is a much feared complication. It may occur in one out of every four adults having mumps.

In the past, fear of contracting the disease from their children concerned parents. It is very hard to keep a child with mumps separated from his parents. Therefore, science has looked for a method to prevent mumps in adults who are exposed to it by their children.

Mumps is caused by a virus, that is, a germ that is so small it cannot be seen with the ordinary microscope and has to be visualized with a special instrument, called an electronic microscope.

Skin Test

Recently, some investigators developed a skin test to determine a person's susceptibility to mumps. Thus, when there is doubt as to whether or not an adult has mumps, the physician can determine whether the person has ever had the disease. Then, if the adult discovers that he is exposed to the disease and his skin test reveals that he may contract mumps, he can be protected against it. A vaccine is usually used to immunize an individual against mumps. However, the vaccine is made less toxic by treating it with ultraviolet light and formalin.

This procedure does not work too well in all cases. Some adults, who are immunized after exposure, may still develop the disease.

U. S. Need for Food To Increase, Claim

CINCINNATI, June 19 —(AP)—A seed expert declared today that American agriculture faces the challenge of feeding and clothing 2,000,000 additional citizens each year with a harvestable acreage that seems to be now expendable. The expert is William Heckendorn, executive-secretary of the American Seed Trade Association. He said in his annual report that if our present rate of population growth continues, 200,000,000 people will live in this country in 1955.

Heckendorn asserted that this potential demand for food, feed and fiber will place a great burden upon those concerned with more efficient agricultural processes.

Eisenhower's Job In Europe Lessens Threat to Sen. Taft

WASHINGTON, June 19—(AP)—Does U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) now believe Gen. Dwight Eisenhower no longer is a threat for the 1952 Republican presidential nomination?

That report cropped up here yesterday. The general is regarded in some quarters as Taft's most serious obstacle—if the senior Ohio senator decides to make a try for the presidency.

A Republican leader who said he recently discussed the situation with Taft told a reporter that Taft apparently now feels Eisenhower has been "blocked off" from the nomination by his present job as top military leader in the North Atlantic defense alliance setup.

Taft has said several times recently he will not decide for some months whether to make an active bid for the nomination.

Petaín Is Spared Death in Prison

PARIS, June 19—(AP)—President Vincent Auriol has commuted the life imprisonment sentence of Marshal Henri Philippe Petaín to permanent confinement in a hospital—but Petaín may never be moved from the military prison on Ile D'Yeu.

The president announced the decision yesterday a few minutes after the polls closed in France's national elections. The decision to change the sentence of the World War I hero of Verdun was reached June 8, but kept a secret to avoid political repercussions.

Petaín, now 95, is so ill doctors report he cannot be lifted from his bed, according to the marshal's wife.

Petaín, convicted of treason after World War II for his part in the Vichy government which ruled France after the Nazi victory, thus technically will die in a hospital rather than in a prison.

Man Is Found Guilty Of Killing Woman

NEWARK, June 19—(AP)—Robert Jamison, Jr., convicted Saturday of strangling Mrs. Richard Loewendick, wife of a close friend, will be sentenced Wednesday morning. A life sentence is mandatory because Jamison was convicted of second degree murder. But the husky, World War II veteran will be eligible for parole in 10 years.

United Defense Fund for Ohio

Seek Community Chest for State

Creation of The Ohio Community Chest Association as a permanent division of The Ohio Citizens' Council for Health and Welfare, the immediate objective of which will be to expedite the United Defense Fund financial campaign throughout the state, was approved last week at a meeting of the council's Board of Directors in Columbus.

Simultaneously, it was announced that Fred Lazarus, Jr., of Cincinnati, has agreed to head a temporary committee of lay leaders from various Ohio cities who will discuss further steps in the organizing of The Ohio Community Chest Association at a meeting to be held in Dayton in conjunction with a national meeting of Community Chest campaign chairman on June 22-23. Lazarus, one of the nation's outstanding business leaders, is president of Federated Department Stores, Inc.

"The immediate and urgent objective of The Ohio Community Chest Association will be to expedite the United Defense Fund financial campaign throughout the state," Leyton E. Carter, of Cleveland, president of The Ohio Citizens' Council, said.

"Its long-range program, however, will be with matters of common concern and interest to all Ohio chests, such as budgets and quotas of national and state agencies, federated financing, research, publicity, and cooperative services looking toward the expansion and strengthening of the community chest movement in the state. Influential lay citizens from all sections of the state will be invited to participate in the work of the new association."

A national goal of $18,824,854 to meet the 1952 needs of services to the armed forces and civilians in defense-impacted communities, and to help send clothing to Korea, will be sought by the United Defense Fund. Local community chests throughout the country will be asked to raise $16,511,854 of the national goal through inclusion of their share in the Red Feather campaigns next fall. Community chests in approximately 100 Ohio cities and villages are being asked to raise approximately $1,350,000 as their share of this total.

Nightly Blackouts Order in Singapore

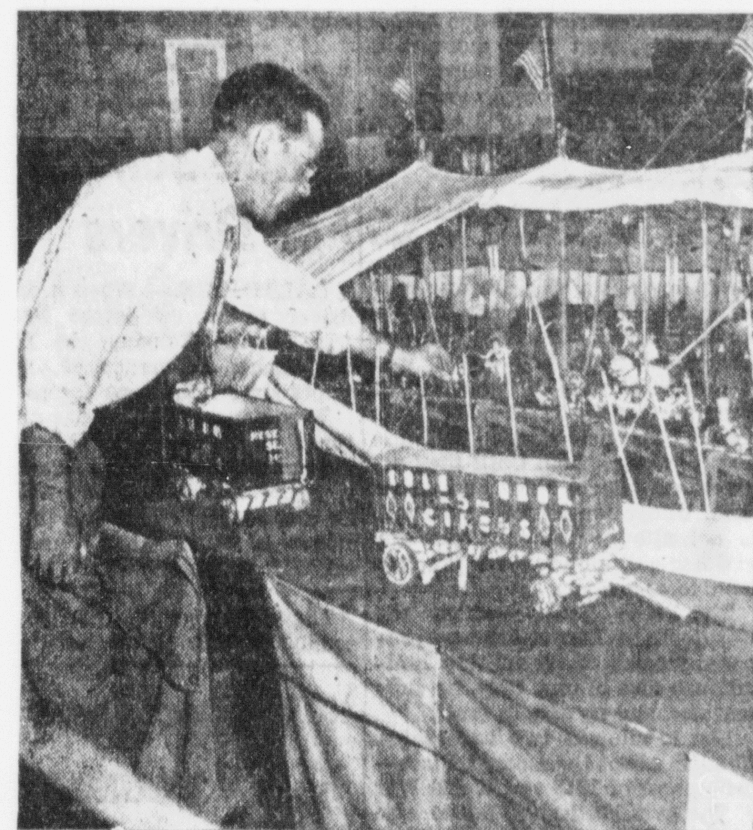

SINGAPORE—(AP)—Just about every night in Singapore, there are electric power blackouts—but nobody gets any advance warning.

The municipal electrical engineer announced he couldn't tell people what areas were going to be affected "for security reasons."

In other words, Communist terrorists might step up their activities if they knew in advance what sections of Singapore were going to be without lighting any specified time.

Among primitive peoples in almost all parts of the world shell-money once was a popular medium of exchange.

Miniature Circus Is Developed Into Biggest of Little Shows

Brinley makes a final adjustment to big top of his circus.

By WELDON D. WOODSON
Central Press Correspondent

MERIDEN, Conn.—All of us have heard of a man joining a circus. But did you ever hear of a circus teaming up with a man? This man-bites-dog event has actually happened.

A circus has jumped on the band wagon of Hopalong Cassidy's empire. To be sure, it is a miniature one, but, at that it's the world's largest small show—a five-ring circus composed of 500,000 individually hand-carved pieces in an arresting array of detail and color. When fully set up it takes more than 400 square feet of space.

Carved by Bill Brinley in 25 years of intensive work, its craftsmanship and "colossal" layout have been seen on all four major television networks and described on major radio networks.

Brinley's Hopalong Cassidy Miniature circus, in connection with Hopalong Cassidy merchandise for youngsters, has been shown at many big department stores.

TENS OF thousands of kids have thrilled as they viewed a miniature parade under the big top. Over the amplifier a booming voice announces "La-dies and Gentlemen!" and calls attention to bare-back riding and the various other acts.

The union of the circus and Hopalong Cassidy Enterprises had its inception back in 1949. Bill (Hopalong Cassidy) Boyd was appearing with Cole brothers circus.

Working as a shipping clerk in Meriden, Conn., Bill Brinley picked up his ears when he heard this, for he had modeled his on the scale of 1/4 of an inch to a foot after the Cole brothers circus. With his wife Madelyn and 7-year-old son, Billy, he most certainly would see the show!

About this time, an enthusiastic public relations man saw in Brinley's circus something more than a unique hobby. As a lure to draw boys (and growing girls, too) to the stores that market Hoppy jackets, jeans, hats, shirts, boots, pistols and myriad other "musts" for fledglings, he envisioned that it would be a corker. So, he interested Hopalong Cassidy Enterprises.

BIG DEPARTMENT stores wrote in for available dates. Now it's booked at each for a two-week engagement.

Brinley resigned his position as $60-a-week shipping clerk. Why shouldn't he? Now, he has a staff of seven and grosses $72,000 a year.

When he launched his hobby at the age of nine, however, to Bill it was just fun. He had seen a circus and wanted to make one himself. Bill's father, Raymond Brinley, works as a tool maker and for his hobby builds ship models. So with ample tools around, Bill had no trouble in starting.

His mother, Josephine Brinley, has displayed exceptional tolerance through the years. As his circus construction expanded, she permitted him to sew tents in the front room, paint in the kitchen, clutter up the closets with gadgets.

When asked what he plans to do with his savings, now that he earns so much, he spontaneously replied, "Buy a circus." By that, he means a real one. It may be a dog and pony show—or complete. Whatever it is, Bill Brinley is in the circus business to stay. He has had sawdust in his veins since the age of 9.

Fleet Review Lasts Only 30 Minutes

BY JAMES M. LONG
TARANTO, Italy—It takes about 30 minutes for the whole Italian Navy to pass in review—that is steaming along at a pretty fair rate.

Because the pre-war fleet with which Mussolini tried to make the Mediterranean once more "Mare Nostrum", (Our Sea) has dwindled from sixth biggest navy in the world down to 36 ships.

That includes everything down to the vest-pocket-sized motor torpedo boats with six-man crews. It also includes three clean-lined, former United States destroyer escorts just turned over to Italy under the arms aid program.

But American naval observers here are not too discouraged over prospects for that pint-sized fleet, now a part of the Atlantic Pact force of western defense.

Well Organized

The latest full fleet review here was described by these high officers as "a well-organized show," and they said that although Italy still lacked modern ships, she could show "a strong and well-trained naval personnel ready to man a bigger fleet as fast as it can be formed."

That can start now—after five years. The Peace Treaty did not allow Italy any new naval construction until 1950. It takes time to build warships. And even more than that, it takes money. But Italy has begun a naval construction program—and to fill in the gap she is receiving surplus United States fighting ships.

Besides the three destroyer escort vessels already received, it has been announced in Washington that Italy will get the "Woodworth" and "Nicholson", two of the fastest destroyers of the American navy. And after them, it is likely that still other ships may follow until Italy's own new naval construction begins sliding down the ways.

Air Power Boosted

Probably equally important: at the long-deserted naval air field just north of this big naval base, there now sits a long row of blimp-like, blue-painted navy fighter-bombers. They're former American Curtis hell-divers, sent here also as part of the arms aid program intended to help Italy guard her part of the Atlantic Pact's western line. Until they arrived, the Italian Navy had no air arm. Under the Peace Treaty she is not allowed aircraft carriers, and her only planes were obsolete land force models.

The Peace Treaty—which the United States Senate has now proposed freeing of its military limitations—also allows Italy no submarines, and no assault craft.

She is allowed two battleships. She has afloat the ancient Doria—grim ghost of 1913 and World War I. The twin battleship, Duilio, also exists—on paper. In the event, however, she is docked and under half-hearted repair and modernization. Officials of the Italian navy doubt that the old ship will ever be put afloat again until new, modern ships replace her.

Paper Navy

Italy has—again on paper—five old cruisers. Of these the Giuseppe Garibaldi, Duca degli Abruzzi and Montecitorio passed in review. The Luigi di Savoia and Luigi Cadorna, laid up for repairs, were not in shape to put to sea.

There also are five destroyers, again not all of them seaworthy at the moment. The rest—they're little corvettes and still tinier torpedo-firing motorboats, and only about two dozen in all.

Traps Hung Up Back on Farm By Wolf Man

MONTICELLO, Ark. — When the law wouldn't let him set out poison 23 years ago for wolves that had been preying on his goat herd, Andy Ray quit farming in south Arkansas and became a trapper for the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

When he retired recently, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service sent representatives here to laud Ray as the outstanding wolf hunter in North America.

"My main reason for starting trapping, I guess, was the loss of those goats," he recalls. "But I also liked fishing and hunting and thought I might as well get paid for it while enjoying it."

Besides campaigning against wolves, Ray, half Cherokee Indian, trapped beavers in various parts of the country, especially in Georgia. He was sent to Missouri, Texas and Oklahoma to get rid of coyotes. He has done some bear trapping.

The veteran trapper says he wasn't always popular when he first arrived in a community to work. The letters "U. S." were painted on the side of the automobile in which he traveled. Residents would begin wondering what Federal department he represented. They thought he was a "revenooer" — a treasury agent rounding up makers of moonshine whiskey.

To build up their confidence in him, Ray would trap a few wolves and display them on the courthouse lawn. That put him in solid with folks. He was "the wolf man."

Now—in retirement—the "wolf man" is back where he started, farming in south Arkansas, though on a smaller scale.

"I'm going to restrict my trapping to an occasional con to eat. Been away off and on for about 23 years and I intend to garden and stay at home now."

Video Court Made School For Drivers

BALTIMORE — When a drunk driver comes up before Magistrate Joseph Kolodny on Tuesday nights, thousands of spectators are sitting in on the case.

What's more, the judge often-times asks those spectators to determine whether the defendant is guilty and if so, how much he should be fined. But if the driver is found guilty, he isn't actually fined nor put behind bars.

That's because the judge is conducting an educational program to teach drivers the rights and wrongs of their traffic manners.

"The Court of Common Sense," is broadcast over a local television network each week.

The setting is realistic as Judge Kolodny raps his gavel, and the bailiff describes the case to be tried — taken from actual court records.

The bailiff uses a diagram and miniature cars to give the TV audience an idea of what happened at the scene of a traffic violation.

Actors from Baltimore theater clubs parade before the judge as witnesses, defendants and attorneys. Sometimes the judge will tell a witness to stop chewing gum or to stand "up straight. And he'll sometimes clear up a case by asking more details.

When defendants, witness and lawyer have had their say, Judge Kolodny may render a decision and then lecture on the follies of careless driving.

Or, he may turn to the video audience and ask them to write in their opinion of whether a man is guilty and if so what the punishment should be.

"Sometimes," says the judge, "sympathy gets the better of the audience and the defendant in turn gets a break. But quite often the audience is tougher on a traffic violator than I'd be."

The program often crusades against driving while tired and against the more serious offense of driving while drunk. Judge Kolodny doesn't have any patience with the tipsy cases.

"The Court of Common Sense" has been honored for its educational efforts. It has received the Alfred P. Sloan Award and a plaque from the National Safety Council, both presented for promoting safe driving.

Modern Werewolves Prowl Wilds Of Mexico To Carry on Nazism, Hint

By PRESCOTT CHAPLIN
Central Press Correspondent

MODERN WEREWOLVES, just as shadowy and vicious as their legendary namesakes, may be prowling the remote reaches of northern Mexico.

Insistent reports filtering across the border indicate that the Werewolves organized before Adolf Hitler's death in Berlin to carry on the crusade of Nazism may be basing some of their operations in the remote wilderness of Barranca de Cobre. This mysterious canyon is in Chihuahua, several hundred miles south of the border.

Adventurers and border jumpers carry the stories and certain known facts lend them a degree of credence. These facts are:

1—Mexico has been a German spy target since World War I.
2—American and British intelligence agents have warned of the establishment before Hitler's death of an underground organization to infiltrate into Latin America and the United States.

3—Evidence of an organization of Werewolves turned up in the Nuremberg war crimes trials.

4—Many Nazi agents were stranded abroad, especially in Latin America, by the war's end.

5—Adm. Walter Wilhelm Canaris, a Nazi spy chief, set up a world-wide underground and issued a book of instructions which included the admonishment, "The Werewolves must infiltrate Latin America and the United States since it is useless to try to conquer Russia while America's industrial potential is intact."

ONE OF THE most intriguing reports to reach the ears of border observers is one brought by Indians from the area of the Barranca de Cobre, a largely unexplored, 7,000-foot-deep canyon in southwestern Chihuahua. Probably fewer than a dozen white men have been known to penetrate deep into its tangled fastnesses.

However, the Indians relate strange stories of planes landing on desolate mesas in the 20-mile-wide gash, especially of one reputed to have landed intact on the canyon's floor. They say it has been dismantled and that its occupants presumably are still in the area.

Persons familiar with the border areas and with an eye on the international scene otherwise, feel that northern Mexico would make an ideal base for the disruptive operations of an organization like the Werewolves. They point out that Indians in Sonora say that anti-American stories are running rampant again—a familiar Nazi disruptive tactic.

When anything was to be gained by such a maneuver, Hitler's government was willing to play ball with the Kremlin. Now it is entirely possible that Nazi remnants are once again working the same side of the street as the Communists.

All this, of course, can in no way be blamed on the Mexican government. Mexico has often been the object of intrigue by foreign governments and the final lesson came in the Leon Trotsky assassination.

The nation has long since strongly allied itself with the United States and other western hemisphere countries to repel threats against our democracies.

Northern Mexico's winding border touches some vital American defense areas. Mexicans, including "wetbacks" (illegal border crossers), will work in the United States. Many of these are country people unfamiliar with city life and standards. They fail to understand the reasons for high wages and prices and become unwitting targets for the sowing of seeds of discontent.

The hate mill is working on them, on the Negro and the Indian. Red propaganda isn't too far removed from Nazi lies and an Admiral Canaris (if he is alive) or his students hiding in the wilds could do more damage than 10 divisions.

The program often crusades against driving while tired and against the more serious offense of driving while drunk. Judge Kolodny doesn't have any patience with the tipsy cases.

"The Court of Common Sense" has been honored for its educational efforts. It has received the Alfred P. Sloan Award and a plaque from the National Safety Council, both presented for promoting safe driving.

Road Repair Program Shows Good Progress

The state highway department's emergency program of frost-damaged road repair is rapidly catching up with the ravages of winter, it was learned today.

E. L. Sheley, division engineer, State Highway Division Six, announces that the road repair program is now two-thirds complete, and that the chuckhole menace is expected to be completely whipped within the next few weeks.

Within the eight counties of Division Six, of which Fayette County is one, a total of 143 miles of pavement was found to be badly broken after the spring thaws. As soon as weather permitted, maintenance crews began a heavy schedule of temporary repairs, designed to keep the roads passable until permanent repair work could be awarded to contractors.

An indication of how quickly this huge task has been brought under control is the fact that, as of June 1, 109 miles had been patched and made ready for new surface. New contracts are now being let to contractors for surfacing, in order to finish repairs before the heaviest volume of summer traffic starts.

Present indications are that the frost-damage repair program in Division Six will be practically complete by July 15.

The late George Bernard Shaw claimed he was descended from Macduff, Thane of Fife, and from Oliver Cromwell.

Waste Makes Food; May Make Money

COLUMBUS, —(AP)—Food is being made from whey, a by-product of cheese making, reports Perry R. Ellsworth, extension specialist in dairy technology at Ohio State University. Ellsworth states that United States Department of Agriculture dairy scientists have made an "exceptionally good, smooth spread from whey protein."

USDA dairymen expect the new product to provide an outlet for some of the billions of pounds of whey produced every year in this country. Some whey is used for livestock feed. Some is concentrated and dried for use in human foods such as process cheese and whey candy. Much is wasted in spite of the fact that whey contains highly valuable proteins, minerals and vitamins.

Wasn't Funny Either

CLEVELAND, June 19 —(AP)—Artie Dunn, 39-year-old Brooklyn comedian appearing with the Pat Page Show here, told police he was slugged and robbed of $285 in his Hotel Statler room yesterday. He said a man knocked him out with one punch when he opened the door in answer to a knock.

American Casualties

WASHINGTON, June 19 —(AP)—The defense department today identified 532 more casualties in Korea. A new list (No. 331) reported 67 killed, 366 wounded, 79 missing in action, three prisoners of war, one death from injuries and 16 injured.

Week's Softball Given Variety

'Old Man's Game' Set for Wednesday

Variety seems to be the order for the softball games this week. An "old man's game" is scheduled for Wednesday evening and an all-girl game is on tap for Friday night.

Sabina is noted around this area for having great enthusiasm when it comes to softball. Everyone from the kids to grandpa get in the act. That's why you see some of our more stable members of Washington C. H. limbering up their arms and taking a few knee bends now and then.

These are the men who will try to cool Mac Tool Co., "Bigball" team from Sabina Wednesday evening. They will take the field under the banner of Rife's Bookstore.

"BIGBALL" IS the term used by the players of the game, since they use an oversized softball. Its primary purpose is to give the men recreation and to let them loosen up a few muscles.

On the same card will be a league game between Armbrust and the league leading W. C. French team.

Curves will be seen all over Wilson diamond Friday evening when the Rocket 88's girls team tangles with the King Kash girls at 7:30 P. M.

The King Kashers have a pretty fair team this year and are hoping to win their first game to start their season off right.

The girls are planning to practice Wednesday evening at 5:30 P. M. on the NCR diamond.

Harry Townsend, city recreation co-director, is managing the girls team and has been giving them some of the finer points of the game.

Armco has scheduled a game with the Top Hatters from Circleville for the second game of the Friday night card.

Ernie Smith To Retire As Reinsman--Decision Follows Toledo Spill

Ernest L. Smith, who was the leading harness horse race driver in Ohio in 1949 and ranked third in the world that same year, is moving toward retirement as a reinsman—but not as an owner and trainer.

This, he disclosed today as he headed back to the races after coming home here for a checkup at Memorial Hospital Monday.

He explained that the "mighty near fell off" the sulky while driving Tandy B in a race Saturday night at Ft. Miami Raceway in Toledo and that he had come home for a physical and medical examination immediately.

He said, however, "the doctors couldn't find anything wrong", and added "I don't know what the trouble is either."

However, he said the fainting spell he suffered Saturday night probably was traceable to the spill in which he was "pretty badly bruised and cut up" about a month ago. He expressed belief that he may have suffered some internal injuries not easy to locate, even with X-rays.

He was driving his Dr. Pat when a horse in front fell and he smashed into it.

SATURDAY NIGHT, he said, he began feeling faint during the race and that by the time he approached the end of the mile, he was unable to pull up Tandy B without help from grooms along the rail.

About his retirement, Smith was vague. It was apparent from the tone of his voice that it would be hard for him to give up the profession he has been following since he drove his first race in honest-to-goodness competition in 1925.

"I've been thinking of quitting for some time," he said and added "maybe this is just what I needed to make me do it."

Then he hedged a little. "Of course," he said, "I'll probably

Rocking Chairs Win Easy One from NCR

The Rocking Chair Inn team found the going easy Monday evening as they took a 10 to 3 decision from the NCR at Wilson Field.

This gave the RCI boys their second win in four starts. The only time the Rockers seemed to be in trouble was in the first inning when NCR took a two to nothing lead.

For the next three innings the Rockers got their runs by twos and they led 6 to 2 before NCR could get in another tally.

In the top half of the sixth the Innsmen gathered in four more runs to put the game on ice.

Brown pitched the RCI team to the victory, giving up six hits. Matson was credited with the loss. Brown helped his cause with a homer in the fourth with one man on.

Just How Good Are White Sox?

Only Three Games In Majors Monday

By JOE REICHLER (By The Associated Press)

Baseball's big question—how good are the White Sox?—may get its answer in the next 72 hours.

Opening with a doubleheader today, Chicago's "Rags-to-Richards" Club takes on the defending champion Yankees in an important four-game series in New York.

Both clubs rested yesterday as only six teams saw action. Cleveland moved a step closer to the American League leaders, out-slugging the Red Sox in Boston, 9-7 Bob Feller, although hit hard, staggered to his 10th victory against one defeat. Harry Taylor was the loser.

The New York Giants nipped the St. Louis Cards, 5-4, in 12 innings and the Chicago Cubs shaded the Boston Braves, 5-4. The Giants trail the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers by 5½ games.

FELLER was supported by a 14-hit attack yesterday and needed all of those safeties, too. He went into the last half of the ninth with a 9-4 bulge and appeared on the way to an easy win.

But Ted Williams received a free pass. Feller retired Vern Stephens but walked Bobby Doerr. Manager Al Lopez summoned Mike Farica, who walked Clyde Vollmer to load the bases. Walt Dropo singled in two runs and Les Moss drove in another. Lou Boudreau walked to load the bases.

Lopez then called in Lou Brissie. The left-hander was superb, striking out the dangerous Billy Goodman and getting Johnny Pesky on a groundout.

Sam Chapman was the big Indian sticker. He got four hits, including a home run. Al Rosen and Ray Boone also homered.

Western Amateur Golf Under Way

SOUTH BEND, Ind., June 19—(AP)—A younger set of players, all in their 20's, commanded the qualifying lead today as the second 18-hole grind in the western amateur golf tournament makes way for grueling match play.

From an original field of 150 will come 64 by nightfall who will be bracketed for man-to-man combat starting tomorrow and continuing through Sunday's finale. Par 37-35--72 for the watermarked 6,519-yard South Bend Country Club course was so thoroughly upset in yesterday's trials that a 36-hole tally of 150 or better appeared to be the qualifying deadline.

Among those grouped at 71 were Frank Stranahan, the perennial amateur threat; Bill Campbell, Huntington, W. Va., and Dow Finsterwald of Athens, O., captain of the Ohio University golf team. Finsterwald carded 37-34--71.

Softball Tonight

VFW will take on the Welding School team at Wilson Field starting at 7:30 P. M. Rocking Chair Inn and Armco will play the second game.

Riegel Starts Boat Racing

Now that Ott M. Riegel has made that first plunge of the season in his favorite sport of motorboat racing, he is now getting ready to take in the water circuit laid out for the summer.

His start, he thinks, was "not too bad," everything considered.

It was at the second annual outdoor regatta at Indian Lake. Sponsored by the Indian Lake Community Club, the regatta drew 10,000 followers of the sport.

Riegel, the former auto mechanics coordinator at the high school here, entered both the class B and class C (class A is for the biggest boats) in the regatta.

In the class B race, Riegel finished second in both heats. In the class C race, he was third in the first heat, but withdrew from the second because of minor mechanical trouble.

Then he came back to finish second and third in the free-for-all.

The lake, Riegel said, was "pretty rough."

Ted Porter, Bob Clemmer, and Bob Grimm went along as his helpers.

Riegel took his two boats to Wolfe Creek dam reservoir in Kentucky about three weeks ago to start the season. But, the water

Red Fifth Column in France Now Out-Nazis Pre-war Nazis

By HAL TUFTY

Central Press Correspondent
PARIS, France—The Russians have a better Fifth Column operating in France at this moment than the Nazis had before the invasion of France in World War II. That's what many pro-American Frenchmen are saying.

Pierre Chevrillon, a 45-year-old educator and playwright, is typical of many who served in the Nazi-resistance movement. He says, "The Russians have learned a lot from the Nazi dictators and added a few new twists of their own."

Chevrillon, who escaped from the Nazis by catching the last train for Spain in 1940, warns of organized Communist groups ready to cut communications, block roads, and paralyze the country so the Red Army could take over with ease.

The Russian Fifth Column is called "more subtle and more appealing to more people."

The Nazis convinced the more-militant minded among the French that a German-ruled France would be better for France. The Communists talk of a better France run by Frenchmen—meaning, of course, French Communists.

In some 14 Communist newspapers, they "sing this chant" to the workers, farmers, the youth, the women and the "intellectuals."

FOR THE workers, the Communists have a special type of double talk. For example: workers are told they will get more benefits if their factory produced under Communist "bonus" rule.

However, in a factory near Paris where the "bonus" system is used, the Communists call the program "paternalism."

For the farmers, "the Communists refrain from waving their familiar and deceptive flag of land reform since the French nature wouldn't swallow that," said Chevrillon. "Instead they stir discontent by talking down American farming as being too mechanized and therefore unfair competition to France."

French youth is told about the great opportunities in Russia. The progress of the Russian youth is from the Eastern Air Defense Force that a new special "exercise," or training maneuver, has been planned for Saturday, June 23 beginning at 8 A. M. and continuing constantly day and night until Sunday at 5 P. M.

Orders have been received here that it is important to keep every post manned at all times during this exercise. If the weather is bad the job still must be done.

Posts throughout this region are being alerted for this observation. Planes which cannot be seen, but can be heard, are to be reported. Information on airplanes during bad weather or at night becomes increasingly important, the instructions state. A booklet of general instructions has been sent to each air corps chief supervisor for study.

All in Day's Work

FONTANA, Calif.—(AP)—Sheriff's officers got the bird when they investigated a report that a mysterious object wrapped in a white sheet had been tossed from a car. Unwrapping the package, the deputies found several very dead chickens.

glorified with the labor camps ignored. French women are promised greater equality and a greater voice in the future of the nation. For those who teach, write, and are interested in any creative art the Communists use the "intellectual" approach stressing the social justice of the ultimate goal. The "means" justify the "end"—and how mean that mean is calls for a fancy glossing-over.

Chevrillon admits these appeals have a convincing ring to many tired, war-weary Frenchmen. "However, the Communist appeal is a hollow one. Yet with this hollow wand the Russians have created more and better political magic than the Germans ever did with their brutal, unsavory attacks," he says.

Professor Chevrillon taught at the Barcelona institute until he discovered the director was a collaborator back in World War II days. Today he is writing a play in his London home in southwestern France. This month he represents France in an international symposium on the drama in Bristol, England.

Chigger Detector Is Simple Device

WASHINGTON—(AP)—When chiggers cause that itching sensation after you come in from a jaunt around your neighborhood, you may wonder where you picked them up.

Entomologists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture suggest a simple detecting device for such emergencies. To locate a chigger-infested spot they advise placing a piece of black cardboard edgewise on the ground where chiggers are suspected. If you can see small yellowish or pinkish mites moving over the cardboard and accumulating on the upper edge, you've hit home.

Three new insecticides have proven better than sulphur for controlling the pests. They are chlordane, toxaphene and lindane, the department states.

Catch Basins Will Be Oiled

Mosquito Fight Is To Be Launched

City Manager W. W. Hill said Tuesday that catch basins are to be oiled sometime in the near future in the first move against mosquitoes in the city this year.

He said, when complaints are received of mosquitoes being at large, spraying will be resorted to, as has been the practice during recent years.

Spraying with a DDT compound has been used effectively against the mosquitoes. The sprayer has worked over the alleys, where it would do the most good.

So far, Hill said, no complaints of mosquitoes have reached his office.

The catch basin spraying is expected to stop the chief breeding places of the mosquitoes.

A city ordinance makes it an offense to maintain rain barrels and other mosquito breeding places about private premises.

Since the spraying was started, complaints of mosquitoes have been fewer than at anytime in recent years.

Combined spraying and oiling of catch basins apparently destroy most of the insects and prevent them from multiplying.

Last Rites for Mrs. Baker Held

Funeral services for Mrs. Iva Belle Baker were held at 2 P. M. Monday at the Gerstner Funeral Home, with Rev. Allan W. Caley, pastor of the Grace Methodist Church, in charge.

Rev. Caley read the Scripture, offered prayer, read the hymns, "Rock of Ages" and "In the Garden" and the poem, "Mother," paid a personal tribute to Mrs. Baker and delivered the sermon.

The funeral was attended by many friends and relatives.

Pallbearers were Marcus Baker, Virgil Mitchem, Frank Thornton, Van Purcell, Presley Caldwell and Fred Hegler.

Burial was made in the family lot of the Washington Cemetery.

Moral Standards

For the war years, he said: "Some high government officials made it the rule, rather than the exception, to accept cocktail parties, hotel bills and even transportation from contractors while at the same time drawing travel expenses and allowances from the government x x x."

"We saw them accepting outrageously expensive gifts from contractors. We saw contracting officers accepting without a blush gratuities from those whose performance they were passing on for the government."

He said that "to put it mildly" this made the government "more liberal" in dealing with contractors.

He declared that even some army and navy officers "used the uniform to feather their own nests."

A recent check of a government agency which he did not identify showed, Warren said, that "in one regional office every employee had received gifts. They ranged from television sets, cases of liquor and watches to hosiery. The employees seemed to think this to be their inalienable right, a prerequisite of their jobs."

Warren said prompt action was taken in that case and the gifts were returned.

Warren called for: (1) tough criminal laws to punish bribery; (2) a prohibition against talking official business in cocktail lounges and at social functions; and (3) "a compulsory fulltime course" on how the American taxpayer pays the bills, as part of the training of all government officials and employees.

ONE MAN GUILTY

After being out an hour, the jury sitting in the cases of Ohio against Billy H. Davenport and Edward Brandenburg returned a verdict at 3:10 P. M. Monday, finding Brandenburg guilty and Davenport not guilty.

Judge H. M. Rankin withheld sentence until later.

ministration proposal to regulate farm prices by setting minimums once a year, instead of once a month, as at present. The Senate banking committee yesterday disapproved this provision, which is strenuously opposed by many farm groups.

Taft said in an interview: "I know President Truman will howl that we are inviting inflation, but the facts of the matter are that with prices declining and a $4,000,000,000 federal surplus in sight July 1, it will be difficult to get action" on controls and tax legislation.

"All of the evidence is that the full force of military spending will not hit until November," Taft said.

"When that time comes, Congress will know how much it has appropriated and will be in a position to decide intelligently what changes are needed in controls and how much is needed in new taxes."

Taft said he would be willing to support in December a one-year extension of the controls law so that Congress will not have to struggle with that issue in an election year.

Bird Blamed For Plane Crash

A bird was responsible for the plane crash at Circleville, Sunday afternoon, when a four-seater plane, owned by Thomas G. Griffith of Canal Winchester, crashed in the Circleville cemetery and burned the pilot almost beyond recognition.

A bird had built a nest in the intake valve of the carburetor of the plane motor. When the motor was opened for the take-off the accumulation of string, grass, etc., was sucked into the tube. It cut off the flow of air, causing the engine to die.

Mrs. Mary Russell Is Called by Death

Mrs. Mary Ramsey Russell, 51, died at the Zane Rest Home in Zanesville at 8:15 P. M. Monday following a lingering illness.

Mrs. Russell, although a native of Brown County, had lived in Fayette County since she was a little girl. She was graduated from Washington C. H. High School in 1916 and for a number of years after that was employed in the office of the old Frank L. Stutson Co. store, now the Steen Dry Goods Co., on South Main Street.

From here, she went to Springfield and then to Dayton where she lived for many years. In Dayton, she was connected with the accounting firm of Bartel & Bartel as an accountant until she retired because of failing health.

She was a member of the Methodist Church in Springfield.

Mrs. Russell underwent an operation in Dayton in April. After she had recuperated sufficiently, she went to make her home with her brother, Dr. Charles Ramsey, in Zanesville.

When her condition became worse about three weeks ago, Mrs. Russell went to the Zane Rest Home where she could get constant care.

Besides her brother in Zanesville, Mrs. Russell is survived by her father, Richard S. Ramsey, of Washington C. H., another brother, Lewis Ramsey, also of Washington C. H., and a sister, Mrs. Naomi Gray of Dayton.

Funeral services are to be held at the Gerstner Funeral Home here at 3:30 P. M. Thursday. Interment is to be in the Washington Cemetery.

000, and state senators and representatives, $2,500 to $3,200.

Judge's salaries also were increased. The supreme court chief justice was boosted from $12,600 to $16,500; supreme court judges, $12,000 to $16,000; appellate judges, $8,000 to $13,500, and the state's share of common pleas judges' salaries, $3,000 to $4,000.

Other measures Lausche let become law, although unsigned were:

A measure licensing aircraft in the state, and removing them from the personal property duplicate, and a measure appropriating $268,000 to air condition the Senate and House chambers and committee rooms.

Lausche's signature yesterday went on one act giving Ohio its first congressional redistricting in 38 years.

School Aid Approved

He approved a bill setting up a 12-member legislative committee to make a continuing study of subversive activities in Ohio and another measure providing $3,000,000 for rehabilitating and equipping school buildings in school districts not well off financially.

Lausche approved an act allowing $696,310 in sundry claims, and another that would permit taxing on radio and television transmitting equipment at 50 percent of its value.

The Democratic governor vetoed these measures:

A proposal to set up a state board to regulate shorthand reporters. The governor said the state now has too many boards that license various occupations.

An act giving the welfare department authority to inspect day nurseries.

A measure letting harness race track operators have another day of racing for each one rained out.

A proposal to investigate the Ohio Industrial Commission.

A measure to make safety inspections of autos compulsory. Lausche said the expense and inconvenience to motorists would not be worth it.

A proposal to raise to $25 weekly the minimum for previously-granted workmen's compensation claims paid the permanently and totally disabled.

Lausche allowed a measure to increase license fees for trucks an average of about 35 percent to become law without his signature. He termed it "a step in the right direction" while asserting it does not do what the proposed ton-mile tax would accomplish.

Acts he signed into law included those to:

Permit commercial propagation of pheasants; allow minors of 15 or older to change beneficiaries in their insurance policies; relax regulations governing hours women

Mrs. Wood Monday filed suit for divorce.

Wood furnished the $500 bond in Ludwick's court and was released from custody.

and minors may work during the present emergency, and one authorizing special auto licenses for radio "ham" operators, and physicians.

Other acts he signed provided a $15 monthly increase in pensions of school teachers who retired prior to June 30, 1947; appropriation of $19,262,038 in new money, and reappropriation of $23,000,000 in unencumbered monies for capital improvements.

Both houses have adopted a resolution setting today as the final meeting of the 99th General Assembly, barring any special session that might be called. Clocks will have to be covered if the law makers do not complete their work by midnight.
